The first record appeared as a purchase of 100 acrea of land in New Hanover County, N.C. in 1737.

In 1741, Catherine McClammy petitioned for a license to keep an ordinary at her plantation near Topsail Inlet and it was granted, with Thomas McClammy named as security. The relationship is unknown, but is more likely to be his sister than his daughter.

When he died he left an unsigned will. One witness was Ann McClammy. It was "ordered that recommendation be sent the Governor to grant Letters of Administration with will annexed." "Will delivered to Mr. Fox, D.S." A thorough search of New Hanover records revealed only an inventory and the appointment of James Henderson as administrator of the estate 16 March 1744.

Other members of the family are unknown.
